“Welcome! Today’s topic is ‘How To Give A Presentation Without Losing Your Audience’s Attention’. The End. Thank you for coming.”
Objectives-

1. Understand what change is, where it comes from, and why it exists;

2. Appreciate what is needed to establish an organizational culture that embraces change

3. Gain the leadership skills required to embrace and implement change

Embracing a Culture of Change & Knowing What to Do

EMS Leadership of the Future

But first…
A Quick Review on Management and Leadership

- Management consists of planning, organizing, staffing, leading, directing and controlling a group of one or more people or entities or effort for the purpose of accomplishing a goal (Murphy, 2009).

- Leadership is about influencing the activities of others in efforts toward goal achievement in a given situation (Hersey & Blanchard, 1981).

- Leadership can be thought of as a blending or fusion of different values, styles, attributes, and behaviors (Mineo, 2009).
"Is it just me, or does it seem like I've taken my leadership skills to the next level?"

EMS Leadership of the Future

“I have plenty of management experience. I spent 18 years telling my parents what to do.”

Styles of leadership practiced in EMS

- Situational-contingency theory is a model that seeks to better align the leaders to the situation. The term contingency is used to describe the style because the leader’s effectiveness is contingent on the setting (Fiedler, 1964).

- Transactional-often referred to as the reward/punish style.

- Transformational - A style that encourages followers to perform above and beyond expectations, combining their own self-interests with those of the leader, the group, or the organization as a whole.

- Servant - A theory is one in which the leader brings out the best in followers by trying to better understand their individual characteristics and interests. Servant leadership is not about the leader, but rather the relationship between leader and follower.

- Authentic - A people-oriented leadership style, which sees qualities such as honesty, integrity, and credibility blended as one.
New Philosophy/Style

- Blend of transactional, transformational, servant, and authentic.

- More listening, less talking, more cooperation.

Why is Change Hard?

Change is part knowledge (knowing what to do); but as importantly...

- Change is about feelings, understanding how to get people to follow you.

- In short, its about LEADERSHIP!
It has been said that a person is revealed; not defined by challenges (change).

It is stepping outside one’s “comfort zone;” (otherwise known as change) allowing them to better understand the impact of what is being communicated.
Successful leaders:

- Understand that positive relationships are key
- Learn to interact with people personally and professionally
- Value and respect the concerns of others
- Demonstrate integrity
- Are agreeable to change
- Listen first, then listen again
- Engage, accept and support (mentor)
- Resolve Conflict
- Use Power Wisely
Successful leaders recognize:

- It's all about the relationship
  - Productive relationships drive success
  - Interacting with people is a good thing
  - Time and energy is required
  - Value and respect for the concerns of others is a must
The Leadership Practices-A self-awareness model of leadership (Kouzes & Posner)-Comprised of 30 behavior related questions divided into the following five practices:

- Model the Way-set an example and live by it!
- Shared Vision-what it is, why its important, what will it take!
- Challenge the Process (this means Change!)
- Enable Others to Act-foster teamwork and trust (no I in Team)!
- Encourage the Heart-recognize and celebrate!

Each of these contributes to being a successful change agent
Challenge the Process

- All about Change, and are you willing to try something different!

- Change can be small or large— you decide!

- Search for opportunities by seeking innovative ways to change, grow, and improve.

- Experiment and take risks by constantly generating small wins and learning from mistakes!
What is change, and how does it affect the EMS leader?

Why embracing "lasting" change is so important in this day and age?

EXERCISE

Think of some work related activity you do each and every day, something you have been doing for as long as you can remember?

- If you were asked to stop that activity right now and do it a different way…what would you do? What reaction would you have?

- How would you feel about the person or entity that told you to make the change?

- Finally, could you do it?
EMS Leaders are faced with significant changes each and every day, whether brought on by new rules and regulations, technology, patient care/safety advances, economics, and/or politics.

Accepting that change is a part of everyday life, EMS leaders must understand that how they respond to change has a significant impact on one's ability to lead their people and organization through such change; especially if their goal is to be successful leader.
5 changes affecting EMS in 2014

By Arthur Hsieh

- EMS is now recognized as a subspecialty practice of emergency medicine.

- Despite numerous studies that show certain practices make no difference in patient outcome in cardiac arrest, overall survival rate is increasing.

- EMS healthcare data is being connected to the rest of the medical profession.

- 2014 has to be the year that EMS embraces a culture of safety.

- As health care reimbursement continues to pressure medical providers to demonstrate effective care, EMS is poised as a community partner to fill current gaps in that care.

EMS Leadership of the Future

- Unfreeze

- Change

- Refreeze
Are you willing to change?

1. Can you speak out your own need to change in an open and transparent way?

2. Do you have the capacity (team that supports you, financial and political strength)?

3.

“A true leader does not set out to be a leader; but rather becomes one by virtue of their actions and the integrity of their intent” (author unknown).
Last, but not least….Be Transparent

Be truthful
Keep your promises
Take ownership of your mistakes
