Since 2013, FlightCrit has helped thousands of EMS professionals advance their careers, improve their clinical acumen, and pass their professional certification exams by providing the industry’s most up-to-date, clinically relevant, flexible, and affordable critical care paramedic classes available.

Whether you’re looking for ongoing Critical Care Transport training for your entire department, preparing to sit for the FP-C or CCP-C exam, or just looking for hours to renew your professional certification, the EPICC Course can be adapted to meet your individual needs.

Keeping your success in mind through the entire process, the EPICC Course is designed and presented using the latest evidence in emergency and critical care medicine, cognitive psychology and adult learning theory.

Building upon the knowledge and skill you already have, and presenting complex ideas in a straightforward way, we’re able to help you form connections between old and new ideas which makes learning critical care concepts simple.

Our Instructor Moderated - Student Directed approach to teaching has made FlightCrit™ a leader in Prehospital Emergency and Critical Care Transport Education and a favorite among EMS Professionals worldwide.

This course is intended for paramedics looking to:
